

Emotion

Designed by Nissen & Gehl

The sculptural sofa

The freestanding sofa 'Emotion' looks fantastic, especially in a living room or lounge area where the striking wooden frame will be shown to its best advantage. The moulded dark wood together with the soft, black leather creates a special kind of sculptural piece of furniture, elegant and unique.

The 'Emotion' sofa is designed by the Danish designer duo Søren Nissen & Ebbe Gehl, who are known for clean lines and classic design.

Kim Nordentoft, the owner of Niealus, tells us: "The furniture by Nissen & Gehl is characterised by having style and personality at the same time as it is highly functional. The speciality of the Danish designer duo is to combine wood with other types of material, of which 'Emotion' is the perfect example. Nissen & Gehl always pays attention to both the detail and the general look of the furniture".

The external frame of 'Emotion' is made out of bentwood walnut, which is beautifully contrasted with the soft cushions. The detailed work in this model takes solid craftsmanlike skill to manufacture. Both the wood and the leather are living materials to work with, so to build and mount this particular piece of furniture has taken the carpenters and upholsterers many working hours.
